Christy Winters-Scott is the lead basketball color analyst for college games for ESPN, FSN, CSN, and the Big Ten Network's women's basketball coverage. She's also a WNBA analyst for the Washington Mystics and a high school basketball coach for her alma mater at South Lakes High School in Reston, Virginia. She is also the host of the NBA's Washington Wizard Pre and Post game shows.

The former University of Maryland college basketball player was a state high school champion as a player at South Lakes in 1986, when she led her team to an undefeated campaign (29-0). During her senior season she led the Seahawks to a 29-0 record and helped them win the 1986 AAA State Title. Winters-Scott was named DC Metro Area's All-Met player of the year by the Washington Post, The Washington Times, and The Fairfax Journal, while averaging 23 points, 14 rebounds, and 6 blocks a game. For her high school career Winters-Scott scored 1,785 points, 1,075 rebounds, and 492 blocks.

Winters Scott earned a full scholarship to play collegiate basketball at the University of Maryland from 1986-1990. While at the University of Maryland, she recorded 1,679 points (second in Maryland history), 723 rebounds (fourth in Maryland history), and played 123 career games (first in school history). She is one of only two players to score more than 700 field goals (703) at Maryland. Winters also ranks in the all-time top 10 at Maryland in games started (4th with 100), blocked shots (5th with 91) and field goal percentage (8th with .537).

After graduating from Maryland, Winters Scott wanted to continue competing, but WNBA wasn't yet in existence, so she headed overseas where she spent a year playing in Pistoia, Italy and another two years in Fribourg, Switzerland. During her final professional season in Switzerland, she averaged 37 points and 12 rebounds per game, and had a career high of 48 points while competing for the Euro Cup.

Currently, Winters Scott lives with her husband, Jerome Scott, and three children Jerome, Brianna, and Jordan in Reston, Virginia. Winters Scott broadcasts 20 to 30 college games a year and all Mystics TV games, Wizards games, AND coaches her alma mater. Winters Scott also holds an impressive resume of awards: ACC 50th Anniversary Team, South Lakes Athletic Hall of Fame, University of Maryland Hall of Fame, ACC Women's Basketball Legend, and Shirley Povich Center for Sports Journalism, Distinguished Terrapin Award, and was most recently recognized by ESSENCE Magazine as one of the top 12 African American female sports reporters in the Country.

THE PIGSKIN CLUB OF WASHINGTON, INC. 2023 BOYS BASKETBALL COACH OF THE YEAR

Eric Singletary is a 1993 graduate of Sidwell Friends, Singletary has been the coach for the Quakers since 2008. In that time, he has developed into one of the area's most respected leaders by consistently assembling teams that have talent and discipline. This year's group flaunted both of those attributes on the defensive end as they stifled one opponent after another en-route to an outright title in the Mid-Atlantic Athletic Conference. They followed that with a decisive victory in the DCSAA title game, further cementing themselves as a Sidwell team to remember.

Following his high school career, he was a four-year letterman at Rice University and played basketball professionally in Germany and Portugal and stateside in the International Basketball League. During Coach Singletary's tenure, the team has won six Mid-Atlantic Athletic Conference (MAC) Championships, including a precedent-setting undefeated (12-0) to win the 2022 MAC regular season and MAC tournament. In addition to back-to-back DCSAA AA State Championships (2019, 2022, & 2023).

THE PIGSKIN CLUB OF WASHINGTON, INC. 2023 COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

Chuck West, President and CEO of OCTET Productions, a full service film and television production company, is a nationally acclaimed producer in Broadway, Urban Theater, and the film industry.

Hailing from Central High School in Prince George's County, Maryland, West is a former American University basketball star where he earned a Bachelor of Science in Finance with a concentration in Accounting. He commenced his career as a financier and partner, producing the landmark plays of the acclaimed playwright, screenwriter, and director David E. Talbert.

During his time in the theater, West was responsible for touring and General Managed "Bring In The Noise, Bring In The Funk," "Lord of The Dance," "Rent," and "Jesus Christ Superstar." In addition, he produced over a dozen David E. Talbert theatrical productions, including "He Say, She Say... But What Does God Say?" starring Kirk Franklin.

Through the years, Chuck quickly became a standout industry leader, specializing in the urban market while creating standards and procedures for industry professionals to follow. His love for his community and commitment to education led Chuck to providing countless hours of service to others. In the early 2000s, Chuck teamed with Duke Ellington School of the Arts to bring students to Sierra Leone and Senegal to experience arts on the continent. In addition, Chuck set up internships and classes to expose students to the theater. His commitment to broadening the lives of others has never stopped. (Continue on next slide).

In 2015, Chuck's love for the arts expanded to film and television production when he partnered with his wife to form OCTET Productions, a full service film production company. He has accumulated over thirty film credits and his priority remains his commitment to educating students in the DMV and across the globe, by ensuring they are allowed to experience the film industry through shadowing OCTET Productions' department heads in order to garner experience working with different production line items and gaining experience in filmmaking. Chuck has given lectures at colleges and universities and continues to build programs that give others access. OCTET has worked with and kids from The Covenant House, Duke Ellington School of the Arts, Howard University, Prince George's County Community College and has a partnership with Bowie State University's Fine Arts Department.

In 2022, OCTET Productions released two (2) BET+ Original projects, a prequel holiday film, "A Wesley Christmas", which received two NAACP Image Awards nominations, OCTET's 1st thriller, "Stalked Within", and its first TV Series, "HUSH", which premiered on AMC Networks streaming service ALLBLK, and was rated Number 1 on the service and AppleTV.

With no end in sight, West has taken 2023 by storm, culminating filming for yet another BET+ Original Holiday Film and a sequel, "A Wesley Christmas Wedding", an OCTET Original, "A Kismet Holiday", and in partnership with Edmonds Entertainment and BET, "Wake"; a suspense thriller starring Shoniqua Shondai, J. Alphonse Nicholson and DeRay Davis. Currently, Chuck is preparing to film the second season of "HUSH" for ALLBLK.

Chuck is a member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Incorporated. He was inducted to the Maryland Hall of Fame for his Outstanding Achievement in High School Football. Chuck is in the 1000 point club for scoring at American University and was recognized as the District of Columbia Office of Cable Television, Film, Music, and Entertainment (OCTFME) January 2020 Filmmaker of the Month.
